

Disputed Issues: Contending for Christian Faith in Today's Academic Setting

Disputed Issues is a collection of essays reflecting Professor Steven Davis's thinking developed over a long and illustrious career on a host of widely-contested issues essential to Christian philosophy, theology, and belief. These thoughtful and highly readable essays explore a range of topics, from those central to basic Christian belief (such as issues about resurrection and the survival of death), to others focused on more specific questions (such as whether Mark copied Homer and whether exegesis should be presuppositionless). Intended as a useful, instructive resource for believers and unbelievers alike, Disputed Issues is essential to understanding what a thoughtful orthodox Christian believes and why.
