

Deep Waters: a journey of healing from sexual abuse

Jasmine May thought everything in life was going fine until, around age 40, she began to have flashbacks of extensive sexual abuse while growing up in Asia. The shocking recollections, and their accompanying emotional and physical distress, thrust her into a dark season of her life. In the process, she wrestled with many raw emotions and challenging questions. She confronted her own inner dividedness and, eventually, her abusers. Throughout the journey, Jesus met her in the places of deepest hurt and moved her towards healing and wholeness.
